AS9100 D Internal Auditor Training

Internal auditors can assess compliance based upon your company's standards allowing a sustained QMS program

This course follows the guidelines found in AS9100 D, the Aerospace QMS, and ISO 19011, Guidelines for Internal Auditing. Training includes an overview of AS9100 D and instruction on how to conduct a quality management system audit. Training and real-life examples are used in the training, which also covers;

1. Audit preparation;
2. Class exercises;
3. Audit procedure;
4. Preparation for live audits;
5. Exercises in completing an audit summary and non-conformance/observation reports; and
6. Critique of the audit by the consultant with certificates awarded for course completion.

Specific training areas include:

1. Understanding about the requirements of AS9100 D
2. How to apply the new requirements to your Company's QMS;
3. Supply and use of an audit checklist;
4. How to prepare and complete an internal and external audit;
5. How to complete all the required paperwork;
6. How to issue and categorize major and minor non-conformances;
7. How to complete a follow-up audit; and
8. Planning for future audits.
