A Virtual Event

July 20-21, 2021

11:30 AM - 3:00 PM CDT each day

(12:30-4 PM ET / 10:30 AM-2 PM MT / 9:30 AM-1 PM PT)

The word power, as used in the title of this virtual professional development event, conveys the dedication and efforts that teaching teams realize daily – Power that inspires children to develop and learn through interactions, discovery, and wonder! The facilitators for The Power of Early Learning Outcomes have designed a virtual event that honors and supports the incredible role that teaching teams have in creating fantastic and meaningful learning experiences.

The Power of Early Learning Outcomes follows the developmental stages by which each child acquires the curiosity and skills to learn and grow. The event reaffirms Head Start’s vision and mission that every child’s potential is in itself an expression of powerful interactions in learning. This training will provide participants knowledge, tools, and inspiration to use best practices for unlimited learning opportunities.

For starters, the session will highlight the importance of professionalism in early childhood educators as teachers continue to refresh and acquire effective teaching practices. At the core is recognizing the potential of the individual learner within the context of family and community life. Most importantly, The Power of Early Learning Outcomes will emphasize the foundation and principles of best practices for individual development and learning.

In concluding the session, participants will become familiar with the intent of the Head Start Child Outcomes Framework through skill building exercises that will provide exploration time and practice by using the event’s training resources. Through these exercises, teaching teams will gain confidence in aligning curriculum goals as well as to expand and enrich their learning activities.

For individual teachers or teaching teams, The Power of Early Learning Outcomes will motivate a renewed sense of professional purpose and joy. Join us!
